Vladislav Polskiy. And this is my way of life. From the desire to be alone to the search for new places and acquaintances ...

I like to travel alone. Yes, talking around a campfire with a company is great, but it is a special feeling to see, hear, feel and breathe new places alone. You are not distracted by someone's conversations, you do not adjust to someone's pace, you are alone with yourself and the world around you. Probably, traveling alone is akin to meditation, the noise of thoughts dies down and everything becomes so simple and clear ... I often visit Norway, Finland and Sweden. These are very beautiful places for hikers, places created by nature itself. These are fjords, rocks, lakes and, of course, falls and waterfalls. Of course, Scandinavia is very interesting and incredibly beautiful. But what about Corelia? Not many people know and realize that our regions are also rich in similar places. And you don't need money, passports and visas to visit them. The only thing that does not give us the opportunity to touch the nature of our places is the youthfulness of these places and their remoteness from the main roads. And I'm looking for similar places in the North-West of Russia and I am happy to share them with like-minded people since September, 2013.

Loneliness is a way of life, absolute freedom to do what you want and when you want ...
